Child Development

Family Based Care

Family is the nucleus of the society and children are the nucleus of the family. In fact children are regarded as the future of nation and hence a well brought up child would be a responsible citizen and an asset to the nation and can take the nation forward.

However there are many misfortunate children in Kalahandi District who are deprived of parental care, love and affection because some of them have lost their parents, some of them have become subject to child abuse, abandonment or negligence due to various socio-economic reasons. In such cases the children found themselves in a state of rejection, loneliness and are in need of care and protection.

There are certain limitations in overall development of children in child care institutions such as;

- a child can stay in CCI until he attains 18 years of age
- the child faces difficulties in adjusting himself with the new environment after he is de-institutionalized from the CCI at once.
- The emotional remoteness of child with the family members gradually increases which later on creates a gap in the family bonding.

- The child gets away from the family and social values as he stays in a confined environment and do not come into a social interaction.
- Child feels less responsible for the family.

So KARRTABYA Always Belives that :-

- A child can be compared with clay and it is in the hand of a potter how they shapes the clay.
- Family is the primary unit for the growth and welfare of the children.
- Every Child has the right to a family.
- The child's interest are of the paramount importance.
- Institutional care should only be a solution of last resort.

Keeping the beliefs in mind KARRTABYA activities focus on :-
